Reunion Day Saturday Offers Full Program For Residents, Visitors

Field House Will Show Exhibits of Historic Interest

Visitors and residents alike can renew acquaintances, relive the past and enjoy the present, during Kingston's "Reunion Day" Saturday, all part of "New York's Year of History."

Many of the events and attractions will have a special fascination for everyone.

Most interest centers around the registration headquarters in the Kate Walton Field House. Predictions are that so many interesting exhibits will be found there that visitors will spend hours, rather than minutes, enjoying the displays and meeting old friends.

Most exhibits will be in place by 10 o'clock in the morning and on display until about 5 p.m. The registration desk, however, will remain open until 8 p.m.

A public address system will be installed at the field house for announcements of all kinds, and to call attention to the various exhibits and attractions. There will also be bulletin boards and a file of all visitors who register. A temporary telephone will be installed.

Interest Shown in Gallows

Considerable interest has been shown in the display of the antique gallows, once used in the Ulster County Court House for capital punishment. The announcement that it was last used in 1865 met with prompt objections. One elderly lady from the Town of Kingston, whose name was not obtained, stated that she witnessed a hanging in the court house yard in 1885, at the age of eleven. Official records are being checked. Incidentally, this gallows, never patented, is of entirely different construction than those seen in the movies.

The Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross will have an unusual display of flags, documents, books, posters and certificates dating as far back as 1889. The Red Cross will also have two nurses on duty at a first aid station to handle emergency cases.

To Show Rail Photos

Robert Haines, a senior at Kingston High School, will show his fine collection of old Ulster and Delaware Railroad photographs. Young Haines is the only teenager putting on an individual display.

The Hurley Hudson-Champlain Celebration Committee will have an extensive exhibit of photographs of recent events, old quilts and Indian artifacts uncovered in Hurley. A special feature will be the playing of an original recording of "A Ribbon of Beauty," a song about the Hudson River. The words were written by Frederic Snyder and the music by Fernand Barratt. Hurley will also have their annual display.

Sportsmen's Park Resort Sold to Tiano, Altieri

An important Town of Rosendale business transaction was recently completed when control of the well known Sportsmen's Park Inc., resort premises in the village of Rosendale was acquired by Michael F. Tiano of Saugerties and Vincent Altieri of Rosendale.

Tiano, who has been identified in local restaurant circles for the past several years, formerly conducted the San Bar Restaurant on East Chester By-Pass and more recently the Cloverleaf Restaurant at Saugerties. The Cloverleaf Restaurant at the junction of the Saugerties Thruway Interchange and the Saugerties-Woodstock Road, will continue to be operated by Mrs. Tiano while her husband will devote his time to operation of the Sportsmen's Park premises.

With Former Owner

Altieri was previously associated with Sportsmen's Park when that restaurant and resort was operated by Joseph Espo-sito.

It was announced by Charles Saccoman, member of the law firm of Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman, who represented the purchasers, that the stock owned by John E. Berlanga of Rosendale, Henry S. Mierzwa of Poughkeepsie, Loretta W. Newman of Tillson and Karl Strobel of Lodi, N. J., had been acquired by Tiano and Altieri who have taken possession of the premises.

Price Not Disclosed

The intention of the new owners is to renovate and improve the premises which are located along the Rondout Creek in Rosendale, making the resort suitable for large banquets, clambakes and other outings in addition to operating the premises as a modern resort.

The purchase price was not disclosed.

Mint Tea, Start Only Rough Spots On Record Africa-California Hop

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The flying granddad, Max Conrad, says he learned on his record non-stop flight from Africa to California that:

"Mint tea makes me ill." A tired but happy Conrad said it with a grin Thursday after 56 hour 38 minute, 7,638-mile hop from Casablanca, Morocco.

But it was no joke, he admitted when he took a swig of the tea and became nauseated over a lonely expanse of ocean near Cuba.

"I didn't take any food — only a thermos of coffee and tea," said Conrad, who makes his living delivering airplanes around the world. "The Arabs put mint in the tea and it became rancid. Boy, I was sick."

Conrad, who made the flight as a promotion stunt for the plane's

But Conrad, 56, recovered and piloted the single engine light plane into Los Angeles, via Corpus Christi and El Paso, Tex., and Phoenix, Ariz.

"I had 18 gallons of gas left and I could have made it to San Francisco," he said. "But I heard everyone was waiting for me in L.A., so I came on in."

The first thing Conrad did after taxying his little plane across the expanse of runway was ask for a drink of water. "Oh, boy, this is good," he said, taking a long gulp.

Then he ducked into a telephone booth and broke the news of his arrival to his daughter, Molly, 21, at the family home in San Francisco. He also has six other daughters, three sons and two grandchildren.

Conrad, who made the flight as manufacturer, said the most dangerous moment was takeoff. "The plane was loaded with 500 gallons of gas," he said. "I got it off after 4,500 feet of runway, and still had about 1,000 feet to spare. A normally loaded plane of this type—the Piper Comanche—takes less than 1,000 feet to take off."

He had good, but he continued to far exceeding the 6,836-mile old record that M. L. (Pat) Boling set from Manila to Pendleton, Ore., in 1958.

Conrad was a band leader before he learned to fly at Denver in 1927. He is also a song writer and frequently composes while ferrying planes about the world.

"But I didn't compose any song on this flight. I usually whistle out the tune, but this time that darn tea left me too thirsty to pucker."

Gives Hope Of Progress For Summit Secret Session Produces Report

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko reportedly has hinted in secret talks that the Soviet Union may be willing to concede the rights of the Western allies to maintain their military garrisons in West Berlin indefinitely.

This is said to be one reason why U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and other top Aligned diplomats persist in thinking the Big Four conference may yet produce an East-West agreement on Berlin leading to a summit meeting.

Not Shaken By Refusal

The unguarded, underlying optimism apparently was not shaken by Gromyko's flat refusal Thursday to begin detailed negotiations to insure the free flow of Western traffic between West Berlin and West Germany.

The Western ministers asked for a guarantee of free access to West Berlin as a test of Soviet willingness to reach a compromise agreement in the Berlin crisis.

Gromyko said he would give the requested assurance if the West agreed to convert West Berlin into a demilitarized free city — a proposal the Western Allies have rejected because it would leave West Berlin defenseless.

More Propaganda

The foreign ministers interrupted their informal private negotiations today for another of the formal, speechmaking sessions which have served mainly as propaganda forums.

Gromyko requested the formal meeting. Western diplomats speculated that he was marking time, waiting for instructions from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on what if any concessions to make to the West.

The development which seems to have impressed the Western ministers most during the week-long series of secret meetings has been that Gromyko talked at times as if the present Western position in Berlin might be maintained.

Notes Flexibility

One highly placed informant said Gromyko showed some flexibility which did not appear in earlier public debates.

Proclaimed by Stuyvesant

He explained that the weekend, June 6-7, is called "Homecoming Thanksgiving Weekend" because June 7 was proclaimed as "Thanksgiving Day" back in the 17th Century by Gov. Peter Stuyvesant. It was on that day that men, women and children captured by the Indians in the second Esopus War were liberated by the settlers.

The development which seems to have impressed the Western ministers most during the week-long series of secret meetings has been that Gromyko talked at times as if the present Western position in Berlin might be maintained.

Cooper Lake, the city reservoir, was reported full and the meter program was said to be progressing satisfactorily.

Yallum Appointed To Planning Body

Mayor Edwin F. Radel today announced appointment of Elmore C. Yallum, of 79 Highland Avenue, to the city planning board.

Named to fill the unexpired term of J. Ellis Briggs, of 306 Pearl Street, he is due to serve until Feb. 5, 1960, at which time reappointment could be considered.

Briggs' resignation, announced recently, was reported due to increased demands of his own business, J. Ellis Briggs, Inc.

The new board member is secretary of M. Yallum Sons, Inc., 12 Broadway. He is secretary of the Rondout Area Businessmen's Association, scoutmaster of Troop 19 sponsored by Joyce-Schirck Post 1386, VFW, a member of Zephaniah Lodge 131, B'nai B'rith and of the F.W.V.

Mayor Radel said he was pleased to have as a member of the board a man who is keenly interested in the progress and improvement of the downtown area.

The term of Abram D. Relley, of 158 Pine Street, water board commissioner, expired May 31, and it was indicated to

Stormy Session Likely On Adenauer's Shift

Will Hold Reign As Chancellor of Bonn Government

BONN, Germany (AP) — Konrad Adenauer Thursday night reversed his decision to step upstairs to West Germany's largely honorary presidency and decided to keep his iron grip on the country's policy by carrying on as chancellor.

Adenauer called an emergency meeting today of members of Parliament from his Christian Democrat Party to tell them of his surprise decision. A stormy session was indicated.

Couldn't Dictate Choice

The 83-year-old government chief apparently changed his plans because he could not dictate his successor as chancellor. He favored quiet, unassuming Finance Minister Franz Etzel but a majority of the party supported the more aggressive Ludwig Erhard, who as vice chancellor and economic minister guided West Germany's amazing postwar recovery.

Erhard, now visiting the United States, was "most surprised" by Adenauer's change of plans and declined comment, a spokesman at the German embassy in Washington said.

He just hasn't got enough information to make any comments," an aide explained. But Erhard reportedly had no intention of cutting short his visit to the United States and hurrying home.

The Christian Democrats' chief parliamentary whip, Will Rasher, said that Adenauer decided to stay as chancellor because he felt he could not be replaced as the government leader during the present international situation.

Some of Adenauer's followers openly grumbled that they could not figure out what new international factors had arisen to call for his abrupt about-face.

Socialists Rap Decision

Only last week Adenauer had said he had no intention of reversing his decision to seek the presidency. He also said he hadn't decided on a successor but would pick one in full cooperation with his followers.

Council in Favor Of $3,349 Taxes From O-W Road

Payment of $3,349 in back taxes is due the city through Common Council sanction last night of a compromise with receivers handling claims against the defunct New York Ontario & Western Railroad.

On advice of William A. Fitzgerald, attorney for the city and other claimants, it was agreed to accept $6,879 toward $12,153.04 owed in general taxes and $1,470 of $2,677 owed in school taxes.

Defaulted in 16 Years

Delinquency dates from 1938 to 1957 with the exception of a few interim years in which the railroad paid. Payments were made from 1942 through 1945 and again in 1951. The railroad defaulted in 16 years.

Attorney Fitzgerald noted $45,000 in allowable claims against debtors who have available for distribution only $8,000.

The attorney informed the Approval Given State Apple Marketing Plan

New York's second state marketing order under the enabling laws approved in April of 1957, was favorably voted on May 28 with 75.22% approval against the legally required 66 2/3% of growers voting. A total of 783 votes were filed.

Ralph Smith, of Poughkeepsie, chairman of the State growers committee which developed the proposed order for the Commissioner's approval following public hearings, along with Rolland J. Reitz, president of the Western New York Apple Growers Association; Marion Johnson, president of the New York State Horticultural Society; and James R. Clarke, of Milton, vice president of the New York and New England Apple Institute, all emphasized a common objective following the announcement of the purpose and programs of the order and the teamwork of industry and the Department of Agriculture and Markets in doing a sound progressive and profitable job for New York State's apple industry.

The order becomes effective July 1, 1959.

Details for putting the order into operation will be worked out during the next few weeks and will include grower meetings in Eastern and Western New York to nominate grower representatives to the advisory board which will advise in the operation of the Com-

Hurley to Relive 1850 Happenings At June 14 Event

Kenneth L. Hasbrouck, New Paltz area historian, will be the principal speaker on the afternoon of June 14 when the Ladies Auxiliary of Hurley Fire Company and the Community Service Club plan to "Take a Backward Look at Old Hurley" as their contribution to the Hurley Festival Year of History celebration.

At 1:30 p. m. Hurley will turn the clocks back 106 years to the year the old Hurley church was dedicated. The atmosphere of a bygone day will be recreated as horse-drawn carriages begin circulating about the village. They will bring costumed worshippers to a brief service in the old church, which the Rev. Harold Schadewald, in costume, will conduct in the tradition of a century ago. Adding to the realism will be an old pump organ on which Mrs. Roy Vogt, church organist, will play hymns of the 1850's.

The present church is the second in the history of the village. The first church, a limestone block building located along the main street, was not erected until 1801. For 150 years, the people of Hurley attended services in Old Dutch Church in Kingston and the old church was reluctant to approve an independent church in Hurley; but in the early 1800's, the people pressed their cause with vigor while preparing to build. When permission was finally forthcoming in 1801, the new church went up very quickly, perhaps with more speed than care. It is said that the inspiring steeple was a menace to all on the main street during windstorms, and within approximately 50 years, a dangerous crack appeared in one wall and the building was abandoned. The new church was completed in 1853 and stands now at the head of the main street on a foundation of stones salvaged from the old building.

Outside the church, Kenneth L. Hasbrouck will make an address following a brief ceremony during which the centennial flag will be presented to the township by the Community Service Club and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Hurley Fire Company.

An old medicine wagon which is rumored to be in the vicinity is expected to put in an appearance, and the Hurley folks are eagerly looking forward to a good show and plenty of "Switzel to Wet Your Whistle." Old fashioned molasses cake and molasses cookies will be served with lemonade by the ladies of the auxiliary and the service club.

5-Point Program Favored to Help U.S. Railroads

WASHINGTON (AP)—The steering committee of the New York congressional delegation plans to press for adoption of a five-point program it says would help railroads to maintain passenger service.

The committee said Thursday it recommends:

1. Lower state and city taxes on railroad properties.
2. Reduction of the 10 per cent federal tax on passenger fares.
3. Greater use of trains by the Defense Department in the movement of troops.
4. Banning the federal government from confiscating any savings made by railroads on state and local taxes.
5. Agreements between railroads to reduce duplicating trains and stations.

The bi-partisan committee was formed recently to promote New York's welfare and economy in Congress. The group is headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.).

U.S. Not Closing Any Section of Rome Air Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department does not intend to close any part of its air development center at Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome, N. Y., a Republican congressman says.

Rep. Alexander Pirnie of New York said he and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) were assured Thursday "that no decision adversely affecting Rome has been made or is being considered." They conferred with William Weitzer, deputy assistant secretary of defense for research and development.

It has been reported that the Defense Department planned to consolidate its development centers at Rome and Cambridge, Mass. Some New Yorkers expressed fear that such a move might adversely affect Rome.

The appointments are subject to Senate confirmation. Rockefeller also reappointed Mrs. Dorothy Leavy of Newburgh to the board of trustees of Washington's Headquarters at Newburgh.

He also announced the reappointment of two members of other boards charged with the care of historical sites.

Mrs. Leavy was appointed to a term ending April 1, 1964, to succeed Benjamin Tuthill of Blooming Grove, whose term has expired.

Mrs. Leavy is directing restoration of the Martha Washington Garden at the Newburgh site.

Rockefeller reappointed Mrs. Muriel C. Zoller of Herkimer to the board of commissioners of the Herkimer Home. Her term runs until April 1, 1964.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 5, 1959

HISTORIC WEEKEND

Many former residents and visitors will be in Kingston over the weekend to participate in important events in connection with the observance here of the Hudson-Champlain 350th anniversary celebration.

Recorded in today's issue of The Freeman are articles on the founding and early history of Kingston, which is celebrating its 307th birthday, the Old Dutch Church, which is observing its 300th anniversary, George Clinton's family and Senate House museum.

The story of George Clinton's family brings out many interesting historical facts. George Clinton, the first governor of the State of New York, took the oath of office here in front of the court house on Wall Street then the State Capital. He is buried in the churchyard of the Old Dutch Church. DeWitt Clinton, nephew of George, a graduate of Kingston Academy, was governor, United States Senator and mayor of New York City for 10 years. In 1812 he ran for president against James Madison and came very close to victory. Had he carried Pennsylvania, he would have won.

DeWitt Clinton's great achievement was the building of the Erie Canal, still in use as part of the New York State Barge Canal. This achievement meant much to American commerce and entitles him to lasting honor. Pictures of DeWitt Clinton are seen more frequently than those of any American other than Washington and Lincoln. "Seen" may not be the correct word. Though countless millions have had Clinton's picture in their hands, few have paid any attention to it, and still fewer could tell anything about it. The picture has since 1879 appeared on tobacco stamps, and is on every cigarette pack. After June 24, however, the cigarette tax will be paid by twice-a-month returns and not by purchase of stamps. So DeWitt Clinton's face will appear on cigarette packages no more. He is worth remembering and perhaps a place can be found for him on our regular postage stamps.

We are all children of history and knowledge of the roots from which we have grown is important. To enrich one's store of such knowledge is to enrich one's whole life.

We cannot live our lives entirely in the context of the present. The hand of the past can be seen at work in all that we do. It motivates us in many subtle ways; it colors our very thoughts and aspirations. We cannot escape the effects of the past on our present lives. That is why these commemorative occasions during this Year of History are so important to all of us.

BIG QUESTION COMING

Each generation of mankind has its special problem, differing in degree if not in kind from those of previous generations. In our time, the political, economic and social problems attendant upon maintaining a free world shield against the threat of communism appear to be predominant.

Although predictions about the problems that will be faced a few decades hence are risky, one of the basic issues can now be clearly foreseen. This is the rapidly looming question of what do to about the rise in world population. By the end of the 20th century, the problems caused by that swift rise in the number of human beings may take precedence over all others.

At present there are about two and a half billion people on earth. At the current rate of increase, it is estimated by United Nations experts, world population will have grown to four billion within 20 years. They foresee a population of six billion, substantially more than double the present figure, before century's end.

Numerous factors contribute to this vaulting increase. Birth rates are high, but they are only a part of the total picture. Advances in medical care, public health and nutrition have greatly increased the human life span. From infancy to old age, the chances of death have been reduced. It is means too soon to lay the groundwork for dealing with them as they arise.

THE CANCER SAGA

Let us not be so sure to number the dead from cancer; there are always the living, those who have met the enemy, known its exactions and have overcome it. According to Dr. Sidney Farber, professor of pathology at the Harvard Medical School, the cure rate of cancer has changed in the last three years from one in four to one in three as a result of medical research programs.

This is a high rate of cure and proves what study and research and knowledge can do. My own experience with cancer was quite simple. We discovered it and got it out. Of course, there is no guarantee that another cancer may not be forming elsewhere and one must recognize that he is not eternal.

What are you looking for, guarantees? It is enough that one can live a little longer, enjoy the company of those whom he loves for another period of time. Life cannot be guaranteed as there can be no security, no assurances of anything. Those who seek guarantees, seek more than can be given. It is enough that one knows that there are men and women who every day work to defeat this malignant thing that only lives to kill.

And those men and women also cannot guarantee that the very costly work that they are doing—costly in money, in time, in the lives of researchers—will bring success. They know by experience that when much work is done by skilled and competent people on research projects, something may come out of it. For instance, Dr. Farber told a Congressional committee:

"Within the past few weeks, at least five virus or viral agents derived from mice with leukemia and capable of causing leukemia in other mice

have been shown to be productive of anti-body formation. It is the beginning of a concept, namely, that there may be a connection between some forms of cancer and some kind of virus. It will take years before anything can be proved. Then it takes time to understand what was proved and what chemicals might be used to cure the disease. Then it will be found that the dosages are not quite right and that there are dangerous side effects. And then they will know exactly how to use the chemicals and they will be called, "wonder drugs," as indeed, everything that saves our lives is a wonderful instrument if properly understood and used.

Many persons, particularly those who watch beloved ones suffer, urge speed. Why, they ask, if so much money is spent on research, is so little discovered? Impatient we all are, but the rate of those who do not rise and that ought to mean much. It is sad, indeed, to see a beloved one die when the cure is just around the corner but that corner must be turned.

Both of the great killers have attacked me during the past three years, heart and cancer. For decades before that I never had any troubles beyond a cold and once a bad appendix. Then suddenly, my heart kicked up. And then a cancer appeared. I am feeling fine, thank you. Nor were the experiences too unpleasant. The repair jobs are a bit rough, particularly the inconvenience of dieting and not smoking the wonderful Havana cigars to which I used to be addicted. However, I have had decades of great enjoyment and a rich life with the sin of gluttony the most usual of my errors.

What is there to complain about? Modern medical and chemotherapy research and modern surgery are keeping more of us alive longer than ever before and if we are so disposed, more happily. The National Cancer Institute has asked Congress for $110,000,000 this year. It is a trifle compared to what it wasted in this land on the escapist and really useless pleasures which passing, bing us to those years when aches and pains befallen that the Reaper is not far away.

What would we not at that moment give to send the Reaper away! Research will do it. The time may come when we shall live as long as Methuselah and when we shall learn to count our blessings and forget all else.

Little Bugs Add Up to Big Health Menace to Mankind

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

It is believed that, pound for pound, insects outweigh all the mammals (including human beings) on the face of the earth. Whether we like it or not, they cannot be ignored.

Some insects, it is true, are beneficial to man. The honey bee, for example, gives us a delectable food. Several other insects pollinate fruit trees and provide other obvious or obscure benefits.

However, there are many harmful and annoying insects and some which are direct hazards to human beings. These are the ones which carry or spread diseases, such as malaria, yellow fever, plague, African sleeping sickness, certain forms of dysentery and cholera.

Actually, efforts to prevent harmful insects from carrying human diseases have been going on for only a bit more than 50 years.

From the standpoint of the battle against insects, World War II was a great success. Better chemicals were badly needed and DDT was one of the results of the intensive studies carried out at that time. Still other insect killers have been developed.

The destruction of too many insects can upset the balance of nature and some people are considerably concerned about this. They believe that the best way to control insect pests is to use their natural enemies. A good deal of research is now going into this subject.

Discomfort is sometimes a factor. Everyone knows the itching of a mosquito bite. When the mosquito bites, it probably pushes something into the skin, but just what this substance is is still a matter of debate.

There have been attempts to make extracts from the mosquito in order to create resistance to the bite. These trials, however, have not been too successful.

Some people get a very severe reaction to insect stings or bites. This is a form of allergy which can be dangerous and is certainly disagreeable.

Sometimes immediate treatment for shock is necessary for people who have been bitten or stung. Some can be desensitized.

Most people know that they are allergic to particular insects should make every effort to avoid being bitten or stung by staying away from places where the insects may be, by wearing protective clothing and by using any other means they can, such as insect repellants, to avoid contact.

brought us to the point where four months of natural increases—that is, births over deaths—can make up for the World War I toll of 10 million killed.

The easy way out would be to ignore this, to concentrate solely on issues of the here and now. To do that would be to evade our responsibility. Population growth seems likely to pose tremendous questions not many years in the future. It is by no means too soon to lay the groundwork for dealing with them as they arise.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—When Cuba's bearded revolutionary leader Fidel Castro was in Washington at the end of April, he was asked about his land reform program and if he had any plans for nationalization of U.S.-owned sugar plantations.

He went into a preamble about the need for agrarian reform because 700,000 Cubans were unemployed and many families were starving. He said it was absurd for Cuba to have to buy (import) food that could be produced by Cubans on their own island after land redistribution.

Then he said flatly, "We will not nationalize. . . . We will not expropriate. . . . We will do it legally."

He gave the impression that only uncultivated or badly cultivated land would be taken. A lot of Washingtonians breathed easier at that. But Castro did not spell out in detail just what he had in his new land laws.

THREE WEEKS LATER, the first seizures were reported from Havana. They were 130 Cuban-owned properties—buildings, land and one sugar plantation in Pinar del Rio province—taken away from Batista supporters.

The Haciendados, the Cuban organization of all sugar producers, filed a formal protest with the government. Castro's reply was a broadcast of several hours in which he said the agrarian law would be enforced to the last letter—regardless of consequences.

American-owned sugar properties were not to be exempted from distribution. And Castro added that he did not think the U.S. would take any action to stop it.

So far no foreign-owned properties have been seized. But the "law" under which land is to be redistributed has not yet been published in the official gazette.

Two drafts have appeared in a Castro newspaper. They are long and involved and difficult to translate. They seem to differ in some discretionary powers to be given Castro's new National Institute of Agrarian Reform.

It took the Mexicans 13 years to find out that this communistic experiment didn't work. But gradually the Mexicans became smart. They found they needed foreign capital, foreign markets and foreign imports, including know-how.

The question now being asked is how long it will take Fidel Castro to learn the same lesson for himself—the hard way if he is incapable of learning it from others.

that the 425,000 Cubans now employed in the sugar industry would get any of the land.

There is a familiar ring about all this to many old-timers in Latin-American affairs. It is just what happened to Mexico under its revolutionary governments of the 1920s. The Mexicans expropriated all the oil companies and other foreign-owned properties—and went bust.

It took the Mexicans 13 years to convince their own people that a change had taken place. Nikita S. Khrushchev now is endeavoring to set up a hostile situation with potential threats against the free countries in true meaning of his trip to

Must Pay Havana Debt

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A Buffalo man has been ordered to pay $1,281 in a judgment entered on an alleged gambling debt at a plush Havana casino.

City Court Judge John L. Kelly granted the judgment, which included interest and court costs, against John C. Voelker, in behalf of the Tropicana, it was announced Thursday.

The casino claimed Voelker signed two checks for $500 each and later stopped payment. They were drawn on a Buffalo bank and made payable to Martin Fox, identified as a majority stockholder at the casino.

Voelker's attorney said the checks were made out "in payment of a gambling debt previously incurred" and that such transactions were "illegal, void and against the public policy of the State of New York."

The casino claimed gambling was legal in Cuba and such laws would prevail.

Mass Slayer Is Denied Appeal

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—The setting of a new execution date for Charles Starkweather, admitted slayer of 11 persons, rests today with the Nebraska State Supreme Court.

The court was to be in session and Attorney General C. S. Beck planned to ask the seven judges to act swiftly in setting the new date.

The doors of the federal courts slammed shut on Starkweather Thursday when three judges of the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals turned down his appeal for a hearing on his request for a writ of habeas corpus.

The federal judges also refused to extend a stay of execution granted Starkweather May 22 so that he might bring his application before the appeals court.

His father, Guy Starkweather, who was instrumental in winning the stay of execution, said he did not know what, if anything, might be attempted next in Charles' behalf.

Starkweather was convicted of first degree murder in one of the 11 slayings he has admitted. His partner on a murder tour in January, 1958, 15-year-old Caril Ann Fugate, is serving a life term for her part in the same slaying.

The SPA said Thursday that it expected payrolls to reach $1,250,000 by mid-summer when 8,000 workers will be on the job. Most of the employees are working a 48-hour week, the SPA said.

The first power from the 720-million-dollar project is scheduled for next February.

Think It Through

E. F. HUTTON
FEDERAL AID

What does it mean? Where does it come from?

As our country grows, we need more of the things which spring from ideas. Ideas built our country. Today, we need such things as roads, schools, harbors for our ships, more Post Offices for better mail service.

But then comes the cry for more pensions, more Federal aid for non-essentials. The left-wing bureaucrats impress our people by implying "ALL FOR FREE." It's Federal money, and the Federal Government hasn't a dime. So they take it from the workers. When the "take" is not enough, then the printing presses start printing to make up the difference.

We would all be better off if we paid our own local and State benefits; shook the shifty Federal do-gooders off our backs, and makes savings accounts, bonds, pensions and life insurance melt like snow in springtime.

Where does Federal aid come from? The politicians take it from your pocket. It's a stick-up, and worse than the guy who takes pennies from your kid's piggy bank.

So when the politicians say, "Here's something for nothing, pal," remember it's your money they are giving you, less what they keep.

It's late, but if the Free Enterprise System is to be snuffed out for failure to inform and enlighten our 65 million plant workers, then we must take the consequences.

Asks LeniencyDivorcee Found*Guilty by Jury Of Manslaughter

NEW YORK (AP)—Blonde William Freiberg, 26-year-old divorcee, was found guilty Thursday night of voluntary manslaughter in the slaying of John Conwell, her Air Force sweetheart. A Brooklyn federal court jury of 10 men and two women also convicted Miss Freiberg on a gun possession charge. The panel recommended leniency.

Faces 17 Years

Miss Freiberg, weeping in her wheelchair as the jury announced its verdict after deliberating 4 hours and 15 minutes, faces a maximum penalty of 17 years in prison on both charges — 10 for manslaughter and 7 for the gun charge.

Judge Mortimer W. Byers continues Miss Freiberg free in $10,000 bail pending sentencing, tentatively set for June 30. Byers told the jurors he would give "deep and prayerful consideration" to their recommendation.

Conwell, 28, was found dead behind a Brooklyn veterans hospital last November. Miss Freiberg worked as a secretary at the hospital. Conwell had two bullets in him, one in the chest and another in the right arm. Miss Freiberg was wounded three times, once in the hip.

Parents Say Nothing
The government charged Miss Freiberg shot Conwell as they sat in a parked car and then wounded herself to make it appear Conwell shot her and then killed himself during a quarrel over blocked wedding plans.

Miss Freiberg's parents, Betty and Ernest Freiberg showed no emotion when the jury verdict was reached. Saying nothing, they wheeled their daughter from the courtroom.

Ecuador's Bloody Riots Started by Personal Grudge

Admitted to Bar, With Flanagan And Ortale Office

Attorney Richard W. Griggs of Port Ewen was admitted to the practice of law in the courts of this state June 2 by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court at Albany. He is now associated with the law firm of Flanagan & Ortale, whose offices are located at 276 Fair Street, where he will conduct the practice of law at that office.

A native of San Francisco, Calif., Griggs received his Bachelor of Laws degree from Albany Law School in June 1958.

While in law school he was active in various student affairs including Moot Court and "Barister's Register." During his senior year Griggs was Editor in chief of the "Verdict," law school newspaper.

Griggs was graduated from Emporia State College, Emporia, Kansas, in May 1951 with the degree of BS in education. Subsequent to his graduation from Emporia State College, he was given a regular commission in the United States Marine Corps, and served with the Marines for five years, until resigning in order to pursue his legal education. He is presently a member of the Marine Corps Reserve and holds the rank of captain.

During the Korean War, Griggs was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received while serving as a line officer with the Fifth Marine Regiment, 1st Marine Division. His service included 29 months overseas in Japan and Korea. His military duties included extensive experience as a Provost Marshal, Barric Officer and in criminal investigative work.

He is married to the former June Coniglio of Port Ewen, and he and his wife presently reside with their 2½ year old son, GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP)—Ecuador's biggest disturbance in years grew out of a personal grudge between a raw army recruit and his spit-and-polish captain.

Within a week at least 25 persons were dead, including the soldier and officer, and 150 were injured.

Under Martial Law

The entire country is under martial law.

President Camilo Ponce in decreeing martial law declared he was acting "to save the republic from anarchy and aggression." His press officer charged that Communists exploited last week's initial outbreak at Porto Viejo, brought on by a squabble between recruit Pablo Antonio Garcia and Capt. Galo Quevedo.

The trouble between the soldier and his captain broke out May 28 in Porto Viejo.

A witness said the recruit thought the captain was assigning him all the dirty details, and taking away some of his privileges.

When the recruits started out on a training exercise, the soldier lagged behind. At the first chance, he opened fire on the captain.

The officer fell to the ground and the soldier turned the gun on himself and committed suicide. The captain was unhurt.

When the captain showed up the next day at the soldier's funeral, the youth's mother threw rocks at him. Others began pushing him around and in seconds the mourners were ready to lynch him. The captain fled.

Rioters Take Over

Rioters, soldiers and even recruits, marched to the officers' club and set fire to the building and fired shot after shot into it. The captain—his uniform and hair afire—staggered out.

The rioters pumped bullets into the captain.

They threw a rope around his neck and dragged him through the streets, then dumped his body in a cemetery.

CD Police Will Meet Monday Night, 7:30

There will be a meeting of the Civil Defense Auxiliary Police Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the American Legion Building on West O'Reilly Street.

This was announced today by Ben Orkoff, chief of the Kingston Unit, who said there will be reports and a film, also refreshments.

Monday's meeting will be the last for the summer until next September.

Richard W. III, on Salem Street, Port Ewen.

Griggs was co-chairman of the 1958 Cancer Crusade in Ulster County and is currently serving on the Board of Directors of the Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

300 Attend Dinner for Two Miller Case Put Retiring From School No. 4 Over for Time At Request of DA

More than 300 men and women attended Thursday night's testimonial dinner honoring two retiring members of the faculty at Public School No. 4 and heard their devotion to the teaching profession extolled by alumni who have become prominent in civic and other fields.

The testimonial at Tropical Inn, Port Ewen, was for Raymond H. Van Valkenburgh, principal of the school since 1917, and Miss Winifred Sullivan, a teacher at No. 4 for 49 years. It was sponsored by the Parents Club of the School and the Fifth Ward Community Association.

Gifts Presented

Gifts were presented by Attorney Abraham Streifer, toastmaster, in behalf of those present, a typewriter to Principal Van Valkenburgh, and jewelry to Miss Sullivan. Both spoke about the Ponckhockie area in general, putting emphasis on No. 4 School's prominent position in forming the character of the people they mentioned.

Dr. Soper, looking out over the assemblage of those honoring the two guests of honor, said he would like to know the secret of how they were able to gain the friendship and support of those affiliated with different political parties.

The superintendent of the Greater Kingston Consolidated School District asked that people of the area cooperate with the new No. 4 principal as they had with Mr. Van Valkenburgh.

Donald E. Sweeney, 32, will take over the post next September, coming here from Hudson where he is now serving as a junior high school principal.

Miller will face the following counts:

Speeding 75 MPH in a 50-mile zone.

Speeding 65 MPH in a 35-mile zone.

Failing to yield right of way to a police vehicle when signaled by siren and light.

Passing stop signs.

Unlicensed vehicle. Miller was reportedly using New Jersey plates.

He entered a plea of innocent when arraigned before Judge Beaver last week.

Alumni of the school who spoke were Eugene B. Carey, former mayor; Attorney Bernard A. Culleton, former city judge, and Joseph F. Sullivan, city historian, who was out of the school long before either of the guests began their careers as educators. Other speakers were Mayor Edwin F. Radel and Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of schools. The Rev. Clarence W. Smith, acting minister of Rondout Presbyterian Church.

Others Introduced

Present were other alumni of No. 4, who were introduced as citizens with distinguished service in various careers. It was pointed out that their success reflects credit on the educational system at No. 4 and on the whole Ponckhockie area.

Mayor Radel paid tribute to the years of service Principal Van Valkenburgh and Miss Sullivan.

Board Going to Court for Stadium that the city will probably appeal to the courts.

It was reported that the legal department of the State Education Department has advised the board that it is legally correct in its interpretation of the Dietz Stadium situation.

Urgent Need Stressed

If the board fails to act immediately it simply means "stalling off" construction of the proposed junior high school for another year, Herzog stated.

In a recent letter to the Common Council the board pointed out that it "is particularly anxious" to proceed with construction of the junior high school since "it is at the junior high school level that classroom space is so urgently needed."

In the opinion of board members there is a difference between the Dietz Stadium situation and the Hasbrouck Park property which it seeks for construction of a new elementary school. It is asking the city for conveyance of a plot of land at Hasbrouck Park. It takes the position, on the other hand, that it owns the Dietz property.

Marlene Ellen Cashin Weds David H. Wood At St. James Methodist Church in Kingston

MRS. DAVID H. WOOD

Miss Marlene Ellen Cashin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cashin of Kingston was married Saturday, May 30, to David H. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland C. Wood of Derby Line, Vt. The ceremony was performed in St. James Methodist Church in Kingston by the Rev. Dr. Kenneth N. Alexander.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Miss Joyce Rector of Boston, maid of honor, Miss Nancy Wood, sister of the bridegroom and a resident of Albany, and Miss Claire Cote of Boston, were bridesmaids.

Students who have their own cars, wish for a more extensive social life and big wardrobes will, of course, find their expenses increased accordingly.

The Education Department's booklet is concerned with basic costs.

It stresses loans as an important source of funds for higher education. The booklet says: "Few families can pay all the costs of college out of their incomes and it is increasingly difficult to work one's way in the old sense of being entirely self-supporting. It is increasingly rare that (scholarships) meet a student's full need."

Student loans are available from the Higher Education Assistance Corp., a private agency set up by the Legislature, the National Defense Student Loan Fund, the individual colleges and various private funds.

A student should look on a loan as an investment in himself, the department says.

Students are inclined to overestimate the amount of money they will earn in part-time jobs at college, the department reports.

"If the student devotes 10 hours a week to an outside job, he is probably tackling as much as he can carry . . . the department says. At that rate, he would earn up to $350 a year and "certainly he should plan on no more than this."

Maennerchor

Ladies Auxiliary of Kingston Maennerchor will meet Wednesday, June 10, at 8 p. m. instead of Saturday, June 6. The meeting will be held at Maennerchor Hall, 37 Greenkill Avenue.

Start New Phase On Remodeling of W. Camp Church

Another phase in the remodeling of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp in preparation for its 250th anniversary celebration was completed this week.

The project including installation of a $10,500 organ will cost approximately $30,000. The historic West Camp church founded by the Palatines in 1710 is planning a two-year observance. This year the congregation will observe the 250th anniversary of the landing of the Palatines in West Camp during 1709 in conjunction with the Year of History celebration.

This week councilmen and men of the church removed the altar, pews, choir loft and plaster from the walls in preparation for the construction of the organ chamber. Other crews dug around the foundation to reinforce and level the structure on the foundation. During the work Sunday worship services are being held in the parish hall.

The Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor, who has been working with the men of the church said the next step will be work on the ceiling of the sanctuary and construction of the organ chamber.

Nelson Burhans, local building contractor and lay president was authorized at a recent church council meeting to undertake the work of constructing the organ chamber. Following completion of the chamber Robert S. Rowland, organ builder of Ossining, well-known in this area, will install the organ.

An earlier phase of the remodeling program was the installation of a new heating system in the church in the spring of 1957. Lambert Schmidt of Leeds is chairman of the building committee.

Thanksgiving Eve Festival at Presbyterian Church to Offer Program of Local History

A smorgasbord banquet and a program of local historic interest will be attractions at the Homecoming "Thanksgiving Eve" festival in First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf Street and Tremper Avenue, Saturday 6:30 p.m.

Boys and girls 14 to 18 years of age must have working papers before taking a job. This law is enforced by the New York State Department of Labor. Application forms are available at the Saugerties High School office on weekdays between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. (9 to 5 after July 1).

Teenagers should get their working papers now before school closes.

Working papers are insurance that the teenager is working legally; assurance to the parents that their children are healthy enough to work at the job they have chosen; and protection for the employer, since the employer will be liable for double workers' compensation award should a minor without working papers be injured.

The congregational celebration is being presented in recognition of New York State's Year of History, and particularly of Kingston's first "Thanksgiving," as proclaimed by Colonial Governor Peter Stuyvesant June 7, 1664.

Major features of the program will be singing by the recently organized Hurley Festival Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Carolyn Waligurski, with Mrs. Marcia Slater, accompanist and a presentation entitled "Peter Stuyvesant Speaks" by former Mayor Frederick H. Stang, who was assisted in historical research for his script by Mrs. Elizabeth Askue of Hurley. Ward B. Tongue will preside, and the Rev. William J. McVey, minister, will offer prayers of invocation.

Selections by the elementary orchestra, string ensemble presentation, the elementary band, and by both choirs.

Directors are Miss Mildred Brady, Winthrop Emmons, and Miss Janice Peterson. Accompanist is Christine Clum.

Deny Any Engagement

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Debbie Reynolds says she can't understand the fuss over a diamond brooch given her by a wealthy Texan.

"All this excitement is completely unnecessary," the actress told newsmen Thursday. "I'm not engaged or in love with anyone."

The actress returned Thursday from a 10-day trip to New York, where she plucked three movies and a new record album. She said

Bob Neal, heir to a coffee fortune and a family friend for eight years, escorted her to plays while she was in New York.

In New York, Neal confirmed that the brooch was just a friendship token. He said he and Debbie never discussed an engagement or marriage.

Enough of Flowers

MAYWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Roses are red, violets are blue. But police here have had enough of flowers, thank you.

A week ago the local weekly newspaper advertised for persons with garden troubles to call the county agriculture extension service. But the ad carried the police phone number by mistake. About 150 persons called headquarters with horticultural complaints.

The police hope a correction in the paper will get them off the hook.

Senate Begins
Strauss Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was ready today to start debate on the nomination of Lewis L. Strauss to be secretary of commerce.

Opposing sides drew their battle lines in majority and minority reports filed Thursday night by the Senate Commerce Committee.

The committee previously had divided 9-8 in recommending confirmation of Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. He has been serving since last November under a recess appointment.

Strauss' nomination, submitted to the Senate Jan. 17, has stirred up the hottest fight of any appointment made by President Eisenhower. The Senate is not expected to reach a vote on it before the week after next. Senators generally have been predicting a close vote, with many agreeing a margin of one or two votes either way will decide the issue.

If all the 98 senators vote, Strauss would need 49 or 50 to win. Vice President Richard M. Nixon could break a deadlock in Strauss' favor if a 49-49 tie should develop.

Representative Of YMCA Council To Head '60 Drive

YMCA Board of Directors held special session early this week to hear Dewey Swihart, a representative of National Council Headquarters, and discuss plans for the capital building campaign in the spring of 1960 he will head.

Swihart presented a brief background of the YMCA history. He noted that the YMCA has given service to the people of the nation for 115 years, and that a new YMCA is being constructed about every 20 days. Kingston has had a local YMCA for 32 years. He told of other cities about the size of Kingston which are raising up to $1,000,000 for new buildings to carry on the modern day program for the community.

The groundwork for the campaign was outlined and a pattern for the drive drafted. A month by month plan will be forwarded to the offices throughout the campaign.

Swihart is also financial representative for YMCA projects in Chicago, Everett, Wash., and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Members attending included Arthur W. Patterson, president; Chester A. Baltz Jr., George Chilson, John Shults, Clifford G. Smith, the Rev. Dr. Kenneth N. Alexander, John Haulenbeck, Richard E. McNaughton, Elmer A. Rylance, and Frederick H. Stang. Also, trustee G. Herbert DeKay, and General Secretary Louis H. Schaefer.

Convict Back in Prison

DANNEMORA, N. Y. (AP)—A 28-year-old convict was back in Clinton Prison today after six hours of freedom that resulted, he claimed, from his becoming separated from a work crew.

Robert L. Schnopp of Plattsburgh, serving a term of 1½ to 3 years for burglary, walked out of a woods Thursday night. He asked Arthur S. Baker, a farmer, for a drink of water and requested Baker to telephone the prison. State Police picked up Schnopp at Baker's home and turned him over to prison authorities. The farm is about a mile from the woodland where Schnopp was assigned to work.

Schnopp said he had wandered away from the work crew and became lost in the woods. He had been due for release next Nov. 9.

South didn't play the hand that way. He led a trump to dummy's ace at trick two and then played a diamond to his jack. West ducked and South returned to dummy with the king of trumps. He could have made seven now by the simple expedient of trumping a diamond, trumping a club, trumping ing another diamond and dropping West's ace, drawing trumps and going to dummy with the ace of spades to run the rest of the diamond suit.

However, South assumed that East held the diamond ace. He led the king of diamonds and discarded a club from his hand.

This time West won and led a spade. South had to win with dummy's ace. He was able to cash one diamond before West ruffed in and spoiled the party.

That one trump lead had turned out to be a luxury that was well beyond South's means.

State Firm to Mount Able, Space Monkey

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The body of Able, the space-flying Rhesus monkey, will be mounted by a Rochester taxidermy company for use in Armed Forces exhibits.

Ward's Natural Science Establishment, Inc., said Thursday it had been contacted by the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology in Washington, D. C., in connection with the stuffing and mounting of the 7-pound astronaut.

Able soared into space in the nose cone of a Jupiter intermediate range missile with a one-pound squirrel monkey, Baker, last month.

But Able died Monday on an operating table in Fort Knox, Ky., when scientists were removing recording instruments used in the historic flight.

Blames Prejudice

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—An attorney who has represented an Apalachian gangland convention delegate says it appears that "a lot of people seem to be using Apalachian to defend the prejudice they have against Italians."

This is a revival of anti-Italian Americanism, Anthony Fernacola of Utica said Thursday at a meeting of the Sons of Italy.

"I have the feeling that they are ready to tag all of us and set us back 60 years," he said. He added:

"If we ever jelled together—47,000 of us in this city—we would be felt. The people would have to reckon with us."

Fernacola has represented Rosario Mancuso, 61, of Utica, one of the 60-odd men rounded up by State Police at the Apalachian home of Joseph Barbara Sr. in November 1957.

Mancuso has been in a New York City jail since last August for refusing to tell the State Investigating Commission about the meeting of underworld characters and friends.

Information Booth Reopened As Woodstock Jaycee Project

The Woodstock Junior Chamber of Commerce has reopened the Woodstock Information Center at the intersection of Routes 375 and 212. Joseph Murphy, Chamber president, has announced.

Arthur E. Hansen has been appointed chairman of the committee in charge of this project. Assisting on the committee will be Robert Haste, Roland Wiltsie and William Popplewell, maintenance; Jack Larson and Kenneth Nickel, finance; Richard Dougherty and Robert Mallory, public relations.

Mrs. Ethel Adams, who has done such a splendid job in the past, will again be on duty at the Center. For the next two weeks, the Center will be open weekends only to accommodate visitors. Starting around June 20 and continuing through the summer, the Center will operate seven days a week. A more definite time schedule will be announced later.

The committee wishes to emphasize that the operation of the Information Center is solely a project of the Jaycees, in the public interest, although it is sup-whether or not the board is acting contrary to an administrative recommendation by the supervising principal and the district superintendent regarding the qualifications of an individual.

The board of education is specifically charged with responsibility in matters of policy and this I interpret as a matter of policy. I am sure that the dissident members of the board resent as I do the persistent attempts to press the qualifications of an individual as the point of issue and I regret that he has become the perhaps unwilling subject of this controversy.

Jaycees Launch Drive for Funds For Little League

Announcing plans for a Little League fund raising campaign, chairman James Kinns of the Jaycee committee in charge today urged the residents of the township of Woodstock to give financial support to the Woodstock Township Little League.

"We need money and the support of all persons interested in maintaining Little League baseball in our town," said Kinns, in announcing two showings of a benefit movie on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 9-10, at the Town Hall.

There will be two showings of the film each day at 7 and 9 p. m. The feature film is "The Great American Pastime," featuring Tom Ewell. There will be several other selected short subjects.

Assisting Kinns in the Jaycee fund raising drive are William West Jr. and Auguste Baptiste.

Aalto Explains His Position on Junior Principal

John A. Aalto, a trustee on the Oneonta Central Schools Board of Education, has addressed the following letter to The Freeman, explaining his position with respect to action taken by the Board on the subject of a principal for the junior high school at its recent meeting.

The letter follows:

"As a member of the board of education of the Oneonta Central School I would like the opportunity to clarify my position regarding actions taken at our June 1st meeting and reported in the Woodstock column in your issue of June third.

"The resolution referred to was originally proposed on May eleventh and would have committed the board of education by naming a junior high school principal and fixing his salary when the new elementary school was finished and when the present elementary principal and pupils moved from the present central school into the new building.

"While there may be some difference in estimating when the building will be ready for occupancy, there is little doubt that the building will not be ready next September. The footings for the foundation walls are now being poured and the structure is a complete fourteen-room school. It is entirely possible that it may not be ready until September 1960, if then.

Scores Cause Celebre

"The point of issue with me, and I cannot speak for other members of the school board, is whether or not this board can ethically commit future boards to an action so far in advance and not, as the article states,

Henry Oliver and "Easy Steps March" by M. D. Taylor.

The elementary school chorus, composed of 4th, 5th and 6th grade pupils, will be directed by Earl Proper with Miss Winifred Bateman at the piano. They will sing "Dona Nobis Pacem," "Whistle a Happy Tune" by Rogers and "Brother James' Air" arranged by Jacobs. In the last selection, they will be accompanied by a group of 5th and 6th grade violin students.

Everyone is invited to attend this musical program.

List Registration For Kindergarten

Kindergarten registration will be held at the Woodstock school Saturday from 9 a. m. to 12 noon.

Any parents having a youngster that will be 5 years old before Jan. 1, 1960, and who intends to register that youngster in the Woodstock School should plan to do this Saturday.

Parents are requested to bring birth certificates of the youngster and a record of vaccination and other "shots" for the school health record.

A booklet will be given parents describing the school day and the calendar for the year.

A doctor, a nurse, two kindergarten teachers and the principal will assist in the registering of pupils.

Parents are requested to report to the office first. From there they will go to the present kindergarten, then to the planned kindergarten rooms for next year, which is the present home economics and shop room.

Senate Confirms Reid, Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's nomination of Ogden R. Reid as ambassador to Israel and George M. Johnson as a member of the Civil Rights Commission have been confirmed by the Senate.

Both won approval Thursday on voice votes, with little of the opposition that had been forecast.

The nomination of Thomas S. Gates Jr. to be deputy secretary of defense also was approved. There had been no controversy over the naming of Gates, former secretary of the Navy, to succeed the late Donald A. Quarles.

Reid, 33, formerly was president a. editor of the New York Herald Tribune. He had been recommended for confirmation by a 10-4 vote of the Foreign Relations Committee over the opposition of the committee chairman, Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark).

Johnson, 58, is a Negro lawyer and educator. He succeeds the late J. Ernest Wilkins, also a Negro. Johnson, whose home is at Berkeley, Calif., was dean of the Howard University Law School here until last year.

A few Southerners voted against him but none of them asked for a roll call.

Competition Seen Vital in Future Of Asia, Africa

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The future of the rising nations of Asia and Africa will be determined by the competition between democratic India and communist China, an American Methodist missionary says.

Mrs. Weithy Honsinger Fisher, 78, a missionary-educator in India and China, said that the competition involved half of the earth's population.

She spoke at the 150th annual meeting of the Genesee Methodist Conference Thursday.

Mrs. Fisher said Americans should "junk" old patterns of thinking about Asians, study the new Asian and realize his ability to think for himself.

Dr. Hurst Anderson, president of American University in Washington, D. C., said that the School of International Service would begin training business leaders for positions overseas next fall.

The school was opened last fall with a million-dollar fund raised by the Methodist church.

The conference at which 313 churches in Western New York and Northwestern Pennsylvania are represented voted to conduct its meeting next year at Bradford, Pa.

Who Are the

"3 Cousins?"

Kingston Celebrates Its 307th Birthday

George Clinton's Family Was Famous and Prolific

On Academy Green stand the iron saints—Hudson, Stuyvesant, and Clinton.

Thanks to Washington Irving, no one is unfamiliar with the choleric and colorful last Dutch Governor of New Netherland, Peter Stuyvesant.

This year's Year of History has familiarized all the world with Henry Hudson, who did not discover the river that bears his name but whose voyage of exploration led to colonization—which resulted in glamorous and thriving New York State.

The average tourist visiting our city has had no difficulty up to this point. But when one of the youngsters says, "Who is this lad Clinton?", most of them check the wristwatch and suggest that if they are going to get any accommodations at a motel in the Albany area, they better get moving.

Surprisingly enough, many of our local residents exhibit the same embarrassment when an out-of-towner asks them about the third statue, in spite of the fact that George Clinton appears on the cover of the current Chamber of Commerce publicity brochure and is named constantly when local history becomes a topic of conversation.

The heart of the trouble, of course, lies in the fact that the Clintons were a prolific and famous family and most folks are not quite sure of the relationship between George, James and De Witt.

Clintons can be either English descendants of the family of the Earl of Lincoln, or Irish. The Ulster County family was definitely Irish. If there were any doubt on this point, one has only to point to their successful campaigning for any political office they chose, a definite flair for fighting their country's (or adopted country's) battles, and a personality that has caused history to deal gently with them.

Born in Ireland

Charles Clinton, ancestor immigrant of the family in the New World, was born in County Longford, Ireland, in 1690. He died in what is now Orange County, in 1773. By dying in 1773, Charles Clinton saw the beginning of the dazzling career of his two sons but did not experience its culmination. Charles Clinton set sail with a party of countrymen for the New World in 1729. The party had set their sights upon Philadelphia as the city where they would set up their new homes. The hazards of the long ocean voyage and the rapacity of the contracting sea captains often made the target a purely theoretical point of landing. The famous point of this is the fact that the Pilgrims who landed on Plymouth Rock were headed for the Hudson Valley.

Charles and Elizabeth Deniston Clinton lost a son and a daughter during the long and soul-trying sea voyage before a captain who had thought to starve his passengers so that he might take over their pitiful personal property landed them on Cape Cod in Massachusetts. There they tarried almost two years, then journeyed to Little

Events Listed In Ulster County For Celebration

The following listing of events was prepared and published by the Ulster County Committee for the Hudson-Champlain Celebration. Information was provided voluntarily by community, town, village and city committees, as well as organizations and agencies.

Charles Clinton also served his country under Colonel Bradstreet at the siege and capture of Fort Frontenac (now Kingston, Ontario, Canada) in 1758. Here he bled his two sons, George and James, and inculcated in them a love of country that resulted in the fact that both of them came out of the Revolutionary War as generals.

First-born son, Alexander (b. 1732, d. 1757) was a physician educated at Princeton, and a second son, Charles (b. 1734, d. 1791) also a physician and surgeon, served as a medical colonel in the Revolutionary Army. He was unmarried.

James Clinton

James Clinton, born in 1736, while he was provided with an excellent education, early exhibited a choice for a military life. He was appointed an ensign in the Second Regiment of the Ulster County Militia, and had become its Lieutenant-Colonel by the time of the Revolution.

He had been a Captain under Bradstreet at the capture of Fort Frontenac in 1758, and had particularly distinguished himself by capturing a French sloop-of-war in Lake Ontario at that time. As colonel of the Third New York Regiment, James Clinton accompanied his cross-river neighbor General Montgomery on the Quebec expedition in 1775. The Third Yorkers were called the "Ulster Regiment," it was noted that they were "particularly well clothed and equipped," which reflected the unusual prosperity of the "Bread basket" of the colonies, Ulster County. As a Brigadier-General, James Clinton commanded Fort Clinton, in the Highlands, when it was attacked by his distant cousin, Sir Henry Clinton, in 1777. General James Clinton reached the peak of his fame as co-commander of the Clinton-Sullivan Expedition, in 1779, which broke the power of New York state Indians for ever, and opened up the southern tier and western part of the state to white settlement. Clinton ascended the Mohawk to Canajoharie, marched overland to Otsego Lake at Cooperstown, ingeniously dammed the outlet of the lake so that he could float men and equipment to the neighborhood of the present Wayne, New York-Sayre, Pennsylvania, area and effect a juncture with General Sullivan who had initiated his expedition from the region of Easton, Pennsylvania.

Year of History Biggest Event

The New York State Legislature designated 1959 as "New York's Year of History." Thousands of citizens, proud of the historic heritage of their respective communities, are working feverishly to fulfill the obligation and take advantage of the opportunities.

This year will long be remembered for the multitude of historic anniversaries and commemorations observed. The composite of all activities will overshadow any previous celebration ever held. More people will discuss local history and participate in historical activities than ever though possible.

A brief outline of the developments which lead to a celebration of such gigantic proportions should suffice.

Several years ago joint legislative action created the New York-Vermont Champlain Basin Commission. This Commission was created to explore and promote the economic development of the region. With the 350th Anniversary year of the discovery of Lake Champlain drawing near, they appointed a committee to plan a fitting celebration.

The State Legislature created the Temporary State Commission on Historic Observances, with Senator Ernest L. Hatfield as chairman, and designated 1959 as "New York's Year of History." Congress authorized the establishment of the Hudson-Champlain Celebration Commission and John H. G. Pell was named as chairman. Six Hudson Valley Counties organized the Hudson Valley Council to promote the 350th Anniversary of Henry Hudson's exploration of the body of water which now bears his name. Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken was elected president.

The Hudson-Champlain Celebration was the title or designation commonly used by local committees for 1959 activities, probably because of the two major events in the history of the world and the fact that their Anniversaries coincided. State legislative action caused all activities planned for 1959 to be a part of New York's Year of History. A series of thousands of localized events, rather than a concentrated celebration lasting for only a day or a week, became known as New York's Year of History.

The Kingston and Ulster County committees have been active for many months. Both encouraged community groups and organizations to originate, plan, execute and finance activities which would focus attention on their individual historic significance, attract visitors and instill greater pride of local history in the minds of our young people, as well as all citizens.

The Hudson Valley Council published a very attractive pictorial six-county brochure inviting everyone to "A Pleasant Land to See." It is receiving very wide distribution and copies are still available at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce which has been designated as the county headquarters.

The Ulster County Committee recently published a listing of over 100 events scheduled between now and the end of the year. Many more events are being planned but lack of specific information, when the list went to press, made it impossible to include them. The committee (Continued on Page 14, Col. 3)

Early graduates included a Vice President of the United States, a candidate for the Presidency, two Governors of New York State, a Secretary of State and Secretaries of War and of the Treasury of the United States, two Ministers to France, as well as innumerable Senators, Congressmen, Generals and noted figures in the business and professional worlds.

The most familiar face in America, that of DeWitt Clinton, on the tobacco tax stamp on every package of cigarettes, was a Kingston Academy graduate.

The Academy here pictured existed until 1915 when the present Kingston High School was built and took over the functions of Kingston and Ulster (now School 2) Academies.

KINGSTON POINT PARK at the turn of the century, at its heyday as the best known and best beloved amusement park and picnic spot in the Hudson Valley.

An open veranda on the entire second story of the building at the Day Line landing provided a resting spot cooled by river breezes and commanding a magnificent vista for several miles of the Hudson's length. Ticket offices, refreshment stands, and amusement devices, including a shooting gallery, occupied the ground floor.

Band concerts, many times accompanied by vocalists, originated in the bandstand in the center of the lagoon. Boating was permitted in the lagoon.

A carousel, run by steam power, and several other amusement hotels, lent a restrained carnival air to the Park. The Oriental Hotel operated a bar and a dining room, with dancing on the broad plazas.

The Point was the end of the trolley lines of Kingston. In the summer, open trolley cars disgorged thousands of passengers to mingle with Day Line excursionists, Sunday School picnickers, and families bent upon whiling away a hot Sunday afternoon.

Known originally as Columbus Point, this was the first Kings-Rhinecliff ferry terminal. It was also the landing spot of part of Vaughn's army which marched up the present Delaware Avenue to burn Kingston in 1777.

Within the past two years, there has been much discussion over the possibility of acquiring and rebuilding Kingston Point Park as a public recreation area, as a permanent memorial to the Hudson-Champlain Celebration and New York's Year of History. Mayor Edwin Radel urged Governor Harriman to acquire the spot as a state park, pointing out that while the east bank of the river was well supplied, with Norrie and Mills Parks, there was no comparable park on the west bank. Governor Harriman took no immediate action on the project, which probably died when his term of office expired. Some citizen groups have also discussed acquisition as part of the city park system or purchase by private subscription.

Senate House Museum Here Holds Wealth of Material

The Hudson River Valley between Albany and the sea has witnessed many events of great significance. Because this is so, it is strange indeed that its legend and folklore are perhaps much better known than its history.

Since the historical background of the City of Kingston is not well known to many people, especially the Museum which stands in the rear of the Old Senate House, a dignified stone building of two stories. Unless specifically pointed out to strangers and to our own folk, it would be overlooked. The Museum is a building sort of hemmed in 'so-to-speak', consequently, is readily passed by because of its location. However, if one is seeking historic material, it is certain this is one of the focal points to find and visit.

The Senate House Museum is organized in formal museum style. One room on the ground floor is given over to the largest known collection of paintings by John Vanderlyn, Kingston's most famous artist. On the same floor is the Judge Alton B. Parker Collection which consists of a photograph and autograph of each elective governor of the State of New York and a few of the Colonial governors. It is in this room that the "Thomas Chamber's Deed" is displayed, on which the bronze plaque was unveiled today.

Upstairs in the museum is a varied collection of small articles of many kinds and periods. All relating to some particular phase of the life and times of Kingston and Ulster County families. For instance in the "Marine Room" there are paintings of the early boats of the Hudson River painted by James Bard. Relics of the romantic steamboat days on the Hudson include the silver-toned bell of the "Norwich," whose bell was laid in 1836. The "Norwich" was known as the "Ice King" since she was the first ice breaker on the Hudson River. Here too can be seen the pilot wheel of the famous side-wheeler, "Mary Powell," built at New Jersey in 1861, and which is said to have been the most widely known and most popular steamboat that ever ran in America. For years the "Queen of the Hudson," as she was affectionately known, held the record for the trip from Rondout to New York City, four hours and 10 minutes, an average of about 25 miles per hour. She made her last trip up the Hudson Sept. 5, 1917 and was dismantled in 1922.

Aside from the collection of river boats there are many other very interesting historic items exhibited. The powder horns, guns, swords, uniforms, fire helmets, hats and bonnets used in the hoop-skirt era, old glass, china and silver, together with a multitude of other articles of widely different character, all of which have a story of the past to tell. There is also the little "Library Alcove" which has been most helpful and interesting to many since it was established just a few years ago.

We do what we can to help those who come to seek information about their family history or perhaps some phase of early history of Kingston and nearby towns. John Vanderlyn, the American artist who was born in Kingston in 1775. Versatile to an astonishing degree, a life of poverty and ill luck failed to dim his talents or slow his brush. Through the patronage of Aaron Burr he studied with Gilbert Stuart, had four years in France and a year and a half in Italy. A wide variety of subjects came to life on his canvases. The Museum has a large collection, portraits, landscapes, still life and historical paintings. One can also see the toys which were made by his father, Nicholas Vanderlyn. Here too, may be seen his easel, watch, snuff-box and the unique and beautiful ivory miniature of Theodosia Burr's eye which was worn by John Vanderlyn on his coat lapel.

This is only a glimpse of the wealth of material which the Museum holds. The public is always welcome during the hours of 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Sundays. It is certain this is one of the focal points to find and visit.

The silent objects of former days which are housed within the museum walls, speak out as no spoken word can do, of the hardships, the comforts, the toil and the leisure, the failure and the successes of the early Kingston days, and the every day events and things of life for which our ancestors worked and fought. They are an important part of our heritage because they help keep before us the beginnings of the America.

OLD KINGSTON ACADEMY—Graduates of Kingston Academy, returning to Kingston for Reunion and Homecoming Weekend, Saturday and Sunday, will feel a twinge of nostalgia at this photo of the old Academy when it was located on what is now known as Academy Green, opposite the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Plans to form an Academy, in those days a radical and ultra-progressive idea, were initiated in 1769. They came to fruition in the opening of the Academy in May of 1774, just 185 years ago last month.

The original Academy occupied the building still standing, though muchly altered, on the corner of John and Crown Streets, now owned by S. J. Aprea and leased to Sears, Roebuck & Co.

This building was damaged at the time of the burning of Kingston by the British General Vaughan in 1777. During the last alteration, charred timbers from that catastrophe were uncovered and were clearly visible.

Early graduates included a Vice President of the United States, a candidate for the Presidency, two Governors of New York State, a Secretary of State and Secretaries of War and of the Treasury of the United States, two Ministers to France, as well as innumerable Senators, Congressmen, Generals and noted figures in the business and professional worlds.

The most familiar face in America, that of DeWitt Clinton, on the tobacco tax stamp on every package of cigarettes, was a Kingston Academy graduate.

The Academy here pictured existed until 1915 when the present Kingston High School was built and took over the functions of Kingston and Ulster (now School 2) Academies.

This was the spot on which Peter Stuyvesant signed the last treaty of peace with the Indians in 1664, just before New Netherland became New York. A small flush tablet on the Green marks the event.

Founding, Early History Outlined

By HARRY RIGBY JR.

Birthdays are happy days. For those of us who experience them with clocklike regularity, they furnish an occasion to gratefully meditate upon a long, happy and fruitful life and to rejoice in the very fact that we have been given birth into this wonderful and pass it along with its increment to his descendants. He was not a tenant farmer in the ordinarily defined sense of that word. He had been a successful building contractor in New Amsterdam. Contracts made by Chambers during that period are still in existence. He had been induced to settle on the patroonship as a valued and skilled craftsman although to eat, he also had to raise his own crops. The Van Rensselaer Bowier Manuscript, in a segment captioned "Copij van Eeneige Acten En Andere Aenmerkeliike Notulen" records the lease to Chambers' farmland, to run 5 years from November 1st, 1647, and with an option to extend 3 years at the end of the term upon the payment of an annual rent of £500, in addition to tithes.

Emissary to Mohawks

During this period, Chambers served on several occasions as a trusted emissary to the Mohawks and probably picked up a fluent smattering of the Indian tongue. Those were also occasions when he could roam the upper Hudson and eastern Mohawk valleys, looking always for a fair piece of land he could call his own. He first attempted to buy a piece at approximately the present location of Catskill from Barent Van Schlichten horst but this was nullified by Governor Stuyvesant who claimed prior title by grant. Chambers then be-thought himself of the little creek valley with warm sandy soil and naturally unforested, several miles above the riverbank upon which the 1614 trading post had been located.

He negotiated a purchase of land, land which lay in the so-called "lowlands" in the triangle back of the present Albany and North Manor Avenues. Chambers evidently served as the advance agent for a group of like-minded Rensselaer tenants, for he was joined almost immediately by Mattys Hendrix, Christopher Davis, Johan de Hulter, and others, among whom probably was Jacob Jansen Stoll (Jacob Hap). Quoting further, he says, "(they) became dissatisfied with living conditions at Rensselaerswyck and came to the Esopus in 1652." He further recites the date and circumstances of the Chambers Deed, and the grants to de Hulter and Kit Davis.

These quotations are taken from a volume entitled "The Story of Kingston," written by Andrew S. Hickey.

Captain Hickey, writing of the building of the stockade, quotes the agreement entered into by the residents of Esopus in which they agreed to "concentrate in any place the Director might designate." This place, he says, was "high flat dry land near Stol's house." Hickey's research confirmed the fact that the existing and thriving 1652 village was merely gathered from the scattered reaches of the present city and concentrated on smaller residential plots within the stockade. The individual farms remained and were worked on the old site in the lowlands but the settlers no longer lived in the midst of their farming acres.

Captain Hickey, incidentally, merely concurs with the record-ed opinions of Sylvester Schoonmaker, Clearwater VanBuren, and other recognized historians of the local scene.

On this then, your natal day, the citizens of Kingston express the sincere hope that her next three centuries may be as productive and illustrious as the past three centuries plus seven years have been.

of New York and Pennsylvania, and served as a member of the New York state Legislature, and of the convention that adopted the Constitution of the United States.

General James Clinton's son, DeWitt Clinton, Mayor of the City of New York, Governor of the State of New York and political secretary and student of politics under his uncle, George Clinton, Governor of the State and Vice President of United States, is most noted for pushing the construction of the Erie Canal. This "Gateway" to the West was completed during his administration as Governor and was often known as "Clinton's Ditch."

George Clinton

George Clinton, three years younger than his brother James, accompanied his father and brother to the reduction of Fort Frontenac as a lieutenant of colonial militia. Upon his return, he studied law and was admitted to the bar. He was elected to the New York Assembly in 1768 and so ardently championed the cause of the colonies against the Crown that he was elected a delegate to the second Continental Congress. George Clinton expressed a lifelong regret over the fact that he was prevented from signing the Declaration of Independence by a call, just one week before, from General Washington to take over the defense of the Highlands of the Hudson as a general of militia. He was a deputy to the provincial congress which framed the New York State Constitution, leaving that congress to take the field as a brigadier-general in the Continental army. He was chosen first Governor of the State of New York in April of 1777 and took the oath of office on a rude platform hastily erected in front of the courthouse on Wall Street in Kingston, then the State Capital. He was successively elected Governor until 1793, and then again from 1801 to 1804, the longest term in that office of any Governor.

Four carpenters came also on the 18th (of June), engaged by Mrs. de Hulter to remove her house, barns and sheds and on the 19th, three more whom I had asked and engaged at Fort Orange to make a bridge over the kil."

There has occasionally, in the minds of the unknowing, arisen a small doubt as to the accurate date of the founding of Kingston. This doubt arises, in large part, from the fact that a celebration was held in 1908 as the "250th Anniversary of the Founding of Kingston." This celebration was largely the brain-child of Alphonso T. Clearwater, a local historian of some repute whose enthusiasm sometimes overrode a strict regard for accuracy in many instances. Capitalizing upon the enthusiasm engendered by the upcoming Hudson-Fulton Celebration in 1909, this festival was hurriedly put together, actually commemorating the building of the stockade in 1658. Judge Clearwater had recently written a "History of Ulster County," sale of which was undoubtedly needed by the stimulation of

Kline Store Goes Out of Business After 50 Years

After conducting a ladies' clothing business in downtown Kingston for 50 years, Samuel Kline, of 96 Hone Street, is preparing to retire and today he is selling out all merchandise in his store at 18 Broadway.

A well-known merchant here the last half a century, Mr. Kline started business with Abe Jacobson in September, 1909, in a store opposite his present place of business in lower Broadway. Five or six years later, the partnership was dissolved and Mr. Kline and his wife, Fannie R. Kline, have conducted the business since then.

It was 12 years ago that the Klines took over the larger store at 18 Broadway, specializing in ladies' ready-to-wear clothing, coats, dresses, skirts and hats. Recalling the early days when business flourished in the downtown area in the vicinity of lower Broadway, East Strand and adjacent streets, Mrs. Kline told a reporter, "Times certainly have changed in the last 50 years."

Mr. Kline has been active outside his business venture. He served as secretary of Congregation Agudas Achim, and he is a former secretary of the Kingston Hebrew School and B'nai Brith: Abraham Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Kline are the parents of three daughters and a son. They are Mrs. Jack Dorfman, wife of Dr. Dorfman, of Mineola, L. I.; Mrs. Bernard Goldman whose husband operates the Goldman Style Shop at 1 Main Street; Mrs. Irving Klish, of Woodstock, and Dr. David Kline, optometrist, who has offices at 358 Broadway, and who resides at 10 Len Court.

The main sections of the market reflected indecision and caution. Wall Streeters said the failure of the market to rebound from two steep setbacks this week was one factor.

New York Central advanced about a point while fractional gains were posted for the Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Illinois Central.

Admits Killing Girl

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A high school honor student confessed Thursday night that he strangled the 3-year-old daughter of a University professor when she resisted his advances.

"I did it," Edward Cooney Jr., 15, quietly told a detective who was participating in a house-to-house search for the missing child.

He then led the detective to the basement of his home where they found the body of Beck Holt in a closet. She was fully clothed.

Jury Completed For Doyle Case; To Begin Monday

A jury was completed Thursday in County Court for trial of the grand larceny indictment returned by a grand jury against Mary Doyle, who stands charged with having taken over $10,000 from the local Mohican store where she was employed.

Following completion of the jury and opening of the case, Edward Bruck, manager of the market was called as a witness and records of the store were produced.

The defendant, Mary Doyle, 29, of 222 Greenhill Avenue, was employed at one time at the bakery counter and also in the office. She is represented by Attorney Joseph Avis and Assistant District Attorney John Goglietti and Joseph Torraca appear for the prosecution.

Because of a regular term of Supreme Court today and a Naturalization Court, County Judge Louis G. Bruhl adjourned the Doyle trial over to Monday to 10 a. m. when it will be continued.

Brooklyn Man Is Arraigned After Leaving Hospital

A Brooklyn man, released from Benedictine Hospital Thursday, was arraigned Thursday before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver, entered a plea of innocent to the charges and was committed to the Ulster County jail in lieu of $200 bail pending a hearing at 10 a. m. Monday, June 8.

Highland state police charge that Signorello was operating a 1952 sedan, was proceeding north on Route 208 in front of the Wallkill Central School when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel. The car swerved off the highway and into the tree. He was negotiating a curve to the left at the time of the mishap. Time of the accident was 11 p. m.

Signorello was allegedly operating the 22-year-old vehicle on the Cowhough road near Route 213 in the Ripton area about midnight last Friday, May 28, when the car, traveling north, failed to negotiate a curve, left the road on the left side, smashed into a tree and plunged down an embankment.

The car is reportedly owned by Leon Wheeler of Brooklyn. Troopers Charles Bundschuh and Charles Geeher reported at the time of the accident that Signorello suffered a laceration of the forehead and possible internal injuries. He was admitted to Benedictine Hospital.

"Contrary to gloomy forecasts by certain U. S. politicians and commentators, we in the U. S. believe Geneva talks can bring positive results," Moscow radio said in an English-language broadcast.

At the same time the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda suggested the next few days may decide what results can be expected from the Big Four foreign ministers meeting.

Other community events, such as class reunions, Thanksgiving Eve suppers, and social gatherings will take place. Various graduating classes of Kingston and Ulster Academies and the Kingston High School, have planned their own events such as luncheons and dinners. All are invited to register those events at the Reunion headquarters in the Kate Walton Field House so that they can be posted and announced.

TIPS AND TOPICS

- By Chet Joy -

A winter of deep frost and a spring of subnormal rainfall in the Catskill Mountains is forming a combination of nature's ways that might well be an indication of a very dry summer if present trend continues. Shortage of supply could well result for Kingston and surrounding areas, possibly worse than 1957 when an auxiliary pipe line was laid from the Ashokan Reservoir, after negotiations for purchase of water from New York City.

What little rainfall of consequence came early this spring, when mountain forest holding root structural systems were frozen tight, unable to absorb lasting supply of moisture. The result was ice jams and a fast runoff on many stream beds, fly larvae and fishlife. Stream banks also suffered additional erosion, pushing added thousands of tons of soil into reservoirs and Hudson River channel on soil laden crests.

Preventive Structures

The need for a multi-purpose program of preventative structures in upper feeder stream valleys to assist nature to hold and control is something that will soon have to be faced realistically, as the use of water and erosion tendencies becomes ever greater. Check dams that store while releasing in normal flow in fast run off periods in dry seasons but would be a much needed flood control measure cutting damage from erosion and siltation to a minimum.

Many mountain streams are now at midsummer levels with the hot and dry weather period still ahead of us. A period of steady rainfall is much needed now.

I have been asked what has become of the record runs of big rainbows that made the Esopus famous. A combination of factors are responsible here. 1. A series of floods starting with a hurricane in the fall of 1950 destroyed millions of fingerlings, the result of a record spring cycle run. 2. Serious erosion and silting conditions brought on by this same flood period calls for stream improvement to aid natural reproduction. 3. A fingerling rainbow stocking policy instead of strictly adhering to stocking brown trout. The last rainbow stocked in the Esopus was prior to 1950.

Downsville Hot Spot

Reports are coming in that the browns are really hitting at Downsville. Stripers are hitting good in the Hudson River and Rondout Creek with a number in the five to six pound class. Will the persons responsible for heaving and leaving dead hering on the banks at Eddyville please refrain.

A report of lamprey eels up the Rondout at High Falls offered by Pete Symanski is disturbing. The habit of attaching to game fish until they become lifeless make them a real menace. Much money has been spent on research in vain to find a method to eradicate them. Lake Superior lake trout population have practically disappeared due to their depredation.

Harvard-Bound Hobie Leaves Legends Behind

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Hobie Armstrong, perhaps the greatest three-year football player in Kingston High School history, will matriculate for the next four or five years at Harvard University. That official statement comes from the fabled Mr. Armstrong himself and he can now settle back and enjoy a peaceful summer after being interviewed by gridiron scouts from all over the country.

The recent success of Kingston High football teams and the dynamic story written by Hobie Armstrong are no coincidence. In three glorious seasons of football, Hobie ran roughshod over the opposition. During those same three seasons, Kingston High School teams did likewise. When Hobie had finished his gridiron career in a never to be forgotten performance at Newburgh last season, it marked the 24th straight contest without a loss for the boys of Bill Burke. To put it in a simpler term — Armstrong never played on a losing football club.

Scored 37 Touchdowns

We reminisced with Hobie and recalled several of the highlights which made his football prowess known throughout the country. When a player scores the staggering total of 37 touchdowns in three years of varsity football, trying to recall the better moments is almost an impossibility. Yet, Hobie remembers many of them.

The Hobie Armstrong legend started back in October 1956. And when Hobie talks about his famous moments in football, the game with Mont Pleasant heads the list.

MEET THE BRAVES — Three of the players who will perform for the Kingston Braves in the New York-New Jersey League this season are, left to right, Eddie Zajac, third baseman; Loren Beresnyak, first baseman and Joe Perrotta, pitcher. The Braves open their home season Saturday, June 13, against the Stewart Air Force Base club of Newburgh.

The upstate visitors came into Dietz Stadium with one of their best clubs ever. They had boasted a 16 game winning streak and were favored by as many as three touchdowns over the local, which at that time had a modest five game victory string. What happened that evening will long be remembered in the annals of KHS gridiron history.

Armstrong gave one of the greatest individual performances ever seen on a football field. Only a sophomore, he scored two touchdowns on scintillating runs, threw key blocks, made many tackles and was all over the field. However, his running is what left an indelible impression in the minds of the observers. It was the beginning of the Hobie Armstrong legend. The end may not come for some time.

Had Fabled Opponents

The fabulous Hobie recalls several of the top notch football stars he played against. He named Deke Johnson of Poughkeepsie High School, Gary Trout of that famed Mont Pleasant club and "those two rabbits from New Rochelle," the school that gave Kingston a memorable battle this past season. He rates the 1956 Mont Pleasant club as the best he's ever played against.

Those 37 touchdowns Armstrong scored in three years of varsity competition, could have been many more. However, Coach Burke on more than one occasion took his glittering star out of the game in an attempt to hold the score down against several clubs. An injured leg suffered early in 1958 hampered Armstrong during the past season and he missed two complete

Hospital Strike Spreads
NEW YORK (AP)—The strike of nonprofessional employees against hospitals here spread today to a seventh, the Flower & Fifth Avenue Hospitals.

Local 119 of the Retail Drug Employees Union posted pickets outside the hospital in upper Manhattan.

The union said that Flower & Fifth Avenue hospitals went back on a contract agreement. It said the agreement had provided for union recognition, arbitration and grievances, wage increases and a no-strike pledge.

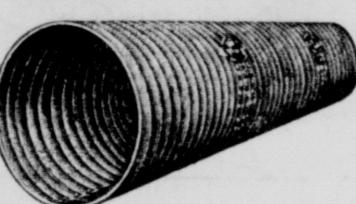

The strike against the first six hospitals started for weeks ago in a move to win union recognition, which the hospitals refused.

The struck hospitals have continued operating with volunteer and substitute workers.

Ask Saugerties
Town About Title
To Esopus Road

A petition asking the Town of Saugerties to take title of Esopus Creek Road in order to improve maintenance of the right-of-way, was presented at the Thursday night meeting of the Town Board.

The petition with 88 names, presented by Charles Hudson stated that the road has been a right-of-way for over 15 years and has been maintained by the township. The roadway requires repairs and widening, the petition claimed. The right-of-way is about one mile long. Following a discussion as to ownership of the road, Supervisor Peter M. Williams said the town would have its attorney study the matter and if possible obtain releases from the owners in order that the town may be granted title to the road.
